“NATIONAL ANTI-CORRUPTION STRATEGIES AND THE ROLES OF NATIONAL STAKEHOLDERS”
SESSION 3
ROUNDTABLE ON SUCCESSFUL EXPERIENCES AND LESSONS LEARNED ON IMPLEMENTING NATIONAL ANTI-CORRUPTION STRATEGIES

COMBATING CORRUPTION AND STRENGTHENING INTEGRITY: MALAYSIAN EXPERIENCE
The issue of corruption has come to the centre stage of state reform and governance improvement programmes of many developing countries.

Corruption always been regarded by many governments as well as many development partners as a serious problem. Many regarded corruption in the same category as the AIDS epidemic or even as cancer in a body.
Brief History on the Establishment of the Anti-Corruption Agency (ACA) in Malaysia
In 1959 the Government established a Special Crime Unit in the Police Department to investigate corruption-related matters;

Set up an Anti-Corruption Unit in the Prime Minister's Department to carry out punitive and non-punitive measures in fighting corruption.

The Attorney General's Department prosecuted all corruption cases.
The Anti-Corruption Agency of Malaysia (ACA) began its formal operations on the 1st of October 1967.

In 1973, the Agency was revamped, organizationally expanded, and its name changed to the National Bureau of Investigation or NBI.

In 1982, the Agency’s name was reverted from NBI to the Anti-Corruption Agency (ACA) to give more focus on the function of combating corruption, abuse of power and malpractices.
THE ESTABLISHMENT OF THE ANTI-CORRUPTION AGENCY (ACA) 1967

ACA: 1 Oct. 1967
NBI: 29 August. 1973
ACA: 13 May 1982
In the year 2008, the Government agreed to the establishment of the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission or MACC to enhance the effectiveness and efficiency of anti-corruption efforts.

To improve public perception towards the independence, integrity and professionalism in performing the functions of the Commission.
The MACC is also supported by check and balance mechanisms to ensure that the Commission acts as provided by the laws and in accordance to the nation’s and society’s aspiration.
CHECK AND BALANCE

is a significant measure in managing public expectation as well as perception of the MACC’s independence, efficiency, effectiveness, transparency and accountability in executing its designated legal responsibilities.

A positive perception of the MACC and the Government in general is important in garnishing public support and cooperation towards the wage war against corruption, abuse of powers and malpractices.
Five Advisory Board or Committees was established.....
1. The Anti-Corruption Advisory Board (ACAB);
2. The Special Committee on Corruption (SCC);
3. The Complaints Committee (CC);
4. The Operation Review Panel (ORP); and
5. The Consultation and Corruption Prevention Panel (CCPP).

2. The MACC also actively participated in several other forums such as the Anti-Corruption and Transparency Task Force (ACT) APEC, ADB-OECD Anti-Corruption Initiatives for Asia and the Pacific and the Interpol Group of Experts on Corruption (IGEC).
International Activities and Training

In the efforts to fortify and strengthen the MACC, local and international training aspects for its officers are constantly intensified. The MACC, through its Malaysian Anti-Corruption Academy (MACA), had for the first time conducted the Executive Certificate Course for Strategic Management of Anti-Corruption Program under the Malaysian Technical Cooperation Programme with the cooperation of the Economic Planning Unit, Prime Minister’s Department.

In addition, several international courses and workshops were also conducted in the MACA such as Managing Corruption in Law Enforcement Agencies, Accountability and Integrity in Public Sector Organizations and International Financial Crime Prevention and Compliance Training Forum.

The MACC also received recognition from the International Criminal Police Organization (INTERPOL) with the successful signing of the Memorandum of Understanding in making the MACA as the INTERPOL hub for the Asia Pacific region in anti-corruption training aspect. The Memorandum also enabled the MACA to adapt to the anti-corruption training programs implemented by the INTERPOL, whilst benefiting from the INTERPOL’s expertise in the MACA’s sponsored courses.
Integrity and Professionalism

1. In order to be a respected anti-corruption commission, the MACC officers need to be the role model in embracing integrity, discipline and professionalism. Towards this, the MACC through its Excellence and Professionalism Division specifically handles those aspects by adopting the Directorate of Professional Standard, the Metropolitan Police of United Kingdom model.

2. The division does not only act upon disciplinary aspects alone as commonly practiced by Disciplinary Unit in other departments/ agencies, but it also regularly carries out compliance audit, integrity testing program and internal complaint management.
Management and Administration

The MACC has been approved a total of 2,620 personnel, comprising of 1,839 (70.2%) Officers of the Commission and 781 (29.8%) common staffs. Out of this, 1,382 (75.1%) Officers of the Commission posts and 694 (88.9%) common staffs posts have been filled.

Under the 9th Malaysia Plan, the Government had allocated more than RM600 million to finance the building of 12 offices cum-residence complexes to accommodate the MACC staffs throughout Malaysia.
